Up to the last we selved dates from Honolula no change had occurred in the form of government. The subject occupies a large amount of space in the American papers. President Cleveland is opposed to annexation and the restoration of the Queen was expected, but it was said that this could not be accomplished without the use force and that American force would not be used for the purpose.

Hongkong is becoming more home-like every year. As will be seen from the advertisement in another column the Tramway Company offers to let out by contract the right of advertising along its line, so that the Peakites may expect ere long to have the merits of various brands of some and liver pills obtruded on their notice by the flaming sign boards with which we are familiar along the English lines of railway.

On Saturday morning at the Magistracy Mr. H. E. Wodehouse held an enquiry into the death of a woman who was drowned in the harbour on the 11th. From the evidence it appeared that a December. large cargo boat with fifteen persons on board was run into about 11.30 p.m. by the steamer Kwong Hoi. The bont was overturned and all the people were thrown into the water. The police were fortunately close at hand, and with business. their ussistance all the unfortunate people were rescued with the exception of the woman and s man whose body has not yet been recovered. His Worship found that death was the result of misadvonture.

The steamer Siam, which arrived at Singapore from Hougkeng and Swatow on the 7th inst., was boarded by the police, and a large quantity of illicit opium was found. Sergeant Williams carried out the search and, in a false bottom of the bunk of one of the quartermasters, he found over one hundred this of opium. In a small deck house another five ties were found and further a quantity of dross of um. Altogether the value was about $2,300, and the net weight over ten pounds. Upon this Chie Police Officer Bell issued instructions for the detention of the Siam pending adjudication. The chip was then seized, and a guard placed on

The assault-at-arms organised by the V.R.C was held on Saturday evening and was remarkably well patronised, though two or three other entertainments doubtless prevented many from attending. H.E. Sir E. Fremantle, H.E. Major-General Barker, and most of the elite of the colony were present, and though the qudience did not quite reach the dimensions of last year's exhibition it must have been very gratifying to the organisers and those who lent their services, and would probably give a balance to the right side of the account. The performance itself was very similar to those with which we are now familiar, though a few novelties were introduced. The boxing, fencing, wrestling, and sympastic exercises were all very well done and elicited rounds of applause. The finale was a most exciting passage of arms between the British troops and the Afghans who were holding the fort of Ali Musical Owing to some misunderstandings the assault-at-arms was not managed quite as well as it might have been as there was evidence of in sufficient rebearsal. However, most of the items were much enjoyed, and great cretit is due to Staff Sergt. Tennant for his exertions in carry ing out the programme, and also to the per

CHRISTMAS IN THE STORES.

Once more that grand old festival at which very Scrooge is supposed to thaw a little and very ordinary mortal expand with forced good humour is coming round, and the storekeepers take very good care that we should not forget Christmas is close upon us, the year is nearly relegated to the limbs of time-past, and whereover we go we find such provision made for the due celebration of the season that one is almost iable to forget that the rate of exchange is dead against such luxuries; Christmas must not come and go without the time honoured festivity where dull care has no place, or without the interchange of little presents which cement our

Messrs.-Lane, Crawford and Co.-are, as usual o the fore with all kinds of attractive features and half an hours inspection of their store suce to discover many absolute essentials for Obristmas which we might otherwise forget to vided for this year, the novelties in toys being very numerous. A feature is the mechanical department, in which we noticed miniature Praya Reclamation cranes, steam boiler, and even complete railway system—ehgine, carriages, rails and stations complete .- The variety of dolls is astenishing, washing dolls, talking doll-, baby dolls, and bumble, meek looking rag dolls, in all sizes and of all degrees of beauty. The miscellaneous toys are too numerous to mention including as they do a thousand articles more or less indispensible to the nursery. Leaving this department we come to a collection of leather goods, in new styles, and some very artistically lecorated china. Lamps, albums, photo frames card c ses, and the electro-plated greats all ang-gest themselves as eminently suitable for presents, while the prices are such as to suit depleted pockets. Coming to the condiments for the Christmas table we are confronted by a spiendid assortment of delicacies. The French confectionery of course is a feature, while the new season's pudding fruits, nots, figs, and mincemeats all look as loscious as ever, and the quantity in stock suggests that the firm believes that the colony keeps Christman well. The good wines that need no bush will be found at Messrs. Caldbeck, Macgregor and Co.'s and a glance over their wine list will show some real good dricks whose well known names are household words in the colony.

One may always be sure to discover some attractions at Messrs. A. S. Watson and Co.'s not neglected to lay in a stock of novelties plush boxes in which some of the confections

On the sea side of the bout the water is shallow and the rocks in the neighbourhood make it dangerous to approach at any time, and more especially so during the present mensoon. No attempt was made therefore by the Calypso (which was sent from Singapore to render assistance) to approach her, and Capt. Darke deeming the attempt altogether too dangerous, it was decided to turn back. After leaving Singapore the Calypso went direct to Raio in the hope of picking up any of the passengers or crew. But Mrs. Selkers and the American Consul and his wife were deemed too ill to proceed, and it was insisted on that the should remain in Rhio for a couple of day longer. After taking up the second and third engineers, as stated above, the Calypso made her unsuccessful attempt to reach the scene of the disaster, but was prevented by the very heavy seas and the rough weather, and owing to the haze which prevailed, nothing could be seen. "The Daily News, in a financial article, says. that the rumours that a large private bouk in London is in difficulties is unfounded, It also characterizes as natrue the report that the Bank England holds $500,000 worth of shares of the trustees and executors of the corporation. On the contrary, it says, the shares belong to Boston, 16th November. The Herald's London correspondent blos the following regarding the trouble in the Bank of England: Another sensation has barst upon the figureial world involving no less as institution than the Bank of England.

Some days ago it was publicly announced that Chief Cashier (F. May) of the Bank of England had resigned his post after twenty years of service and would retire on a liberal pension voted by the directors. It now appears that Cashier May not only rotires, but his resignation was demanded by the directors, and no pension is given him for the.

reason that he has involved the bank in beavy The cashier was entrusted with almost absolute power in making investments. A short time ago the directors found cause to question the soundness of his judgment, which was subjecting the bank to unaccustomed losses. They voted to retire him on half pension. After further investigation into the nature of his investments. they decided to retite him peremptorily, and refused to pension him. It seems that the officer's son was chairman or a leading director in some of the so-called trust companies of which so many have gone to the wall during the last twelve months, revealing lamentable state of figureial unsoundness. In the companies in which his son was desply interested the cashier of the Bank of England inrested large sums of the bank's money by virtue f the discretionary, power entrusted to him. The collapse of the companies swamped these in vestmonts. The amount is not yet definitely known: It not less than $1,000,000," and it may $2,000,000 or $3,000,000. The cashier discharged has not a penny to his name and his creditors are about to proceed against him in the Bankraptoy Court, where a full investigation will be made this week. The papers are already drawn up, and the marvel is that the Bank of England permits this, for the result must show how fallible its administration: is and publiceonfidence will be seriously disturbed. Financial men cannot understand why the hank allowed matters to come to the verge of this disclosure. Wividid not the brok do for itself what it did for the Barings in their historic dilemma? The obvious course would have been to quietly pay the cashier's debts and so avoid not only the disclosure of the bank's loss, but, what is more important, the peculiar state of the administration which gives an individual anguestioned authority to exercise faulty and nostly judgment. It reveals a weak spot in the strongest fi ancial institution in the world, and will not enhance the reputation of English financiering. This is the result most to be feared, for if the British public, in the present depressed condition of affairs, about have any reason to lose a single grain of its implicit faith in the wisdom of the Bank of England, there is no foretelling the result on this already disturbed community 🗲 🗆 Of course nobody imagines that the Bank of England could be affected in a purely monetary point of view by any loss in which an unfortunate official may have involved it. The bank is strong enough to withstand many such losses, but to abate any of its prestige for sound administration s another matter, and to comple this with the strange fatuity which permits its ex-eashier to be subjected to bankraptcy proceedings, with its ourious disclosure of the bank's mismanagement which must of necessity ensue, is surely an error in judgment on the part of the directors.

LONDON, 16th November, The Bank of England officials continue to maintain silence regarding the rumours of bad financiering upon their part. It is stated on good authority, however, that the bank's connection with the bade financiering is practically limited to its transaction in the South American and Mexican Company, which has been ventilated in the courts, and the fact developed that there have been irregularities, but they were confined to silowing favoured oustomers to substitute less desirable securities for those apon which money originally was lent. The Daily Telegraph in its financial article this morning says: It is stated that the total loss of the Bank of England through Chief Cashier May's advances on unsound securities will not exceed $100,000. There is no reason to expect that there will be any important reduc-

The Times in its financial columns emphasizes yesterday's depial and says that the character of the ramours is now well understood and that the bears have undoubtedly been repurchasing. BETTLEMENT OF ENGLAND'S COAL WAR. London, 19th November. The news over which all England is rejoicing is no less important than the tidings of peace country in treasure and suffering has been greater save actual war. The leading newspapers today estimate the money loss by the coal dispute at $150,000,000. These enormous figures are hardly adequate. There is no means of computing the tremendous loss by reason of the hundred of factories-closed or rapping on halftime. In Shelfield, for instance, where there is no mining population, hime touths of the inhabitants have been idle on account of the coal famine. The suffering among the miners, as everybody knows, has been intense, but the distress was even greater in the manufacturing towns. The migers have had the benefit of large popular succeptions.
